ONLY 25 CENTS.

LEE'S UNPARALLELED ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS, price 25 and 50 cents per box—famous for the cure of Bilious and other destructive fevers, obstinate obstructions of the stomach and bowels, giddiness, sickness of the stomach, removing colds, costiveness, &c. &c.

Dear Sir—Having made use of the various Pills in my family, offered to the public for the past five years, and having found your celebrated Anti-Bilious Pills the most efficacious in cleansing the stomach and bowels, removing head-aches, sick stomach, and having used them for several years past, I can have no hesitation in stating, that I believe them, as represented, a most valuable Family Medicine. JACOB SMALL,
Mayor of the city of Philadelphia.

To Mr. Noah Ridgely.

CAUTION.—Please ask for Lee's Anti-Bilious Pills, prepared by Noah Ridgely—and see that his name is on the outside wrapper—no other are genuine. None of Lee's medicines are genuine without the name of Noah Ridgely on them.

Twenty years.—LEE'S ELIXIR has for twenty years, been a most successful medicine, for the cure of colds, coughs, spitting of blood, asthma, consumptions, and other complaints of the lungs and breast, as many of our citizens have certified.

To Mr. Noah Ridgely, of Baltimore.

Dear Sir—I was attacked with a most violent cold, a severe cough, and pains in the breast, which continued to grow worse, during which my appetite failed and my voice altered so much, that it was with the utmost exertions I could pronounce a single sentence louder than breath. I bought and used one phial of your valuable Elixir, which restored me to perfect health. Yours, with respect. J. A. SMITH,
Market street, Fell's Point.

Lee's Worm Lozenges, a certain and powerful remedy for destroying all kinds of worms.

Wonderful Tape Worm! A part of a tape worm passed by a lady 40 years old, which measures 3 feet long, and contains three hundred joints. This worm, with two round worms 13 to 15 inches long, and three fourths of an inch round, expelled from a child not five years old, by the use of Lee's Lozenges, are now to be seen at Lee's Family Medicine Dispensary, No. 63, Hanover street, Baltimore.

Lee's Nervous Cordial, an excellent medicine for all nervous affections, weakness, pain in the loins, back, &c.

Lee's Essence of Mustard! No remedy ever excelled this in curing rheumatism, sprains, bruises, frosted feet, &c.

Sir—You are at full liberty to use my name in recommending your Lee's infallible Ague and Fever Drops, as, from repeated trials of them in my family, I have always found those Drops to be truly an infallible medicine, never failing to produce a speedy and effectual cure. Yours, respectfully, MICHAEL WARNER.

To Mr. Noah Ridgely.

Lee's Tooth Powder, which cleanses and beautifies the teeth.

Lee's Corn Plaster, for removing and destroying corns.

Hundreds of cases of cures performed by the above truly valuable medicines could be given, did the limits of a newspaper admit of it.

☞The above highly approved medicines are sold by appointment, by B. A. FAHNESTOCK and CHAS. AVERY & CO., Pittsburgh, who have just received a fresh supply from Baltimore.

BAYARDSTOWN STEEL WORKS
PITTSBURGH, PA.

THE public are respectfully informed that these works, under the late firm of S. Broadmeadow & Co., are now continued in operation by S. Broadmeadow, to whom all orders are requested to be directed.

S. Broadmeadow, having had much experience in England, in the manufacturing of this article, has succeeded in making from the American Iron, in Pittsburgh, Steel of equal quality to that imported, to the entire satisfaction of those friends who have favored him with their orders.

Part of the steel made by him has the brand of P. Shoenberger, and subsequently of P. Shoenberger & Son: but as those gentlemen are about to commence the same business, the iron manufacturer's name will in future be discontinued, and the steel manufacturer's name labeled on the bar.

It is considered quite unnecessary, at this date, to say any thing more than to observe that three years' experience has fixed its value, and thirteen of the most respectable scientific mechanics of this city have testified to this, through the medium of the public papers, two years ago. Nov 25

IS now kept by B. DUKE, who has, at considerable expense, made such improvements to the House as will insure comfort and convenience to his Boarders and Lodgers. This House is so well known that it needs but little description, being central to the principal Mercantile Houses in Market street, the Post Office, Banks, and public places in Chestnut street.

The Proprietor solicits the attention of Merchants and Travelers to his establishment, and rests his claims to their patronage, on his efforts for their comfort and accommodation.
March 9—1mo.

THE subscriber has the honor of informing the Ladies and Gentlemen of the city of Pittsburgh and its vicinity, that he intends opening a Riding School, for the summer season, on the first of April, when a suitable house will be erected for that purpose. The undersigned flatters himself, that from his perfect knowledge of horsemanship, he will be able to give general satisfaction. Terms to be made known at the office of Charles Von Bonhorst, Esq., in the Diamond, where the subscriber will be found every afternoon from four o'clock till sundown. Gentlemen who are much engaged, can take their lessons at six o'clock in the morning.

The undersigned has likewise the honor of informing the Ladies and Gentlemen that he will continue giving lessons in the French and German languages. CHARLES UNRUH.

Edgeworth Ladies' Boarding School,

BRADDOCKSFIED, NEAR PITTSBURGH,

Will recommence its engagements on the first Monday of October next.

THE increased and increasing approbation given to this institution cannot fail to produce a corresponding zeal and energy, and a desire to secure a settled good opinion. At this time very many additions have been made, for the convenience, comfort, and well doing of the pupils.—In so large a field as is open for education, understood in its true and extensive sense, there must be room for continual culture. Unabated will be the effort to do the utmost possible to meet so responsible a charge as the care of youth, and to this effort will be added the aid experience brings.—With little observation, in every succeeding month, somewhat is seen to revise and improve.

Edgeworth Seminary has been now of several years standing, and, disclaiming all egotism, it is only the fact to say that experience enables it to offer rather an increase than a diminution of means to give satisfaction.

The health enjoyed by the inmates, and beauty of situation of Braddocksfield Mansion, are well known to visiters, but for information of strangers, it is necessary to state, that in both particulars terms too flattering cannot easily be used.

To instruct, coercive means are not employed—reference is made to the heart as well as the head. Pains are taken to inculcate, that to be great, it is an indispensable to be virtuous; and as the worth of knowledge is only to be estimated by its tendency to right action, the study of every branch, and the proportion of time given to it, will be made subservient and tributary to useful moral and religious improvement.

Sabbath day engagements must not be interrupted unnecessarily. Pupils living at a distance, or from any cause, disposed to make Braddocksfield, during the vacation, their home, are invited to do so, and no additional charge is made.

TERMS.

Admission, Tuition in English branches, viz:—Reading, Writing, Grammar, Composition, Arithmetic, Geography, and Astronomy, with use of Globes, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, and History; also Plain and Ornamental Needle Work, - - - per annum, $130

ADAMS M'FADDEN,

Having taken the extensive warehouse, formerly occupied by the Pittsburgh Manufacturing Association, No. 26 Wood street, and next door below the Drug store of Messrs. Charles Avery & Co., is now opening the most splendid assortment of Goods in the above line that has ever been seen in this city, and to which the attention of Ladies and Gentlemen is most respectfully invited.

In addition to the above, while in Philadelphia, he engaged the services of an experienced Upholsterer, who will shortly be forthcoming, and ready to attend every call in his line, and perform his work in eastern city style.

As arrangements have been made with several of the most extensive importing houses to the eastward, a regular, general, and superb assortment of every article in the above line will be constantly kept up, and offered at fair prices, for cash, acceptances, or the usual credit. And as the above named intends to devote his whole personal attention to the concerns of this establishment, he will be thankful for the influence and patronage of his many friends. The following account of the colony at Liberia, is extracted from the Amulet, a British annual for 1832, and forms part of an interesting article on the subject of the Slave Trade, taken from the journal of an English Naval Officer. We copy it, as evidence from an impartial source, of the important settlement under the care of the Colonization Society. After describing the situation of the African coast, from the Straits of Gibraltar to Sierra Leone, he proceeds:

"This is a bold promontory, called originally Monte Senado, but corrupted, as all names here are, by negro pronunciation, into Mesarado. The American Colonization Society located here a number of free people of color, the offspring of African slaves, born in America and liberated.—They were sent from the United States, and the settlement was called by the appropriate name of Liberia. There are but few white people among them, and none who possess any land. When the colony was first established, the land was procured from the native chiefs by purchase and treaty, but some misunderstanding arose, the real objects of the colonists were not understood, and several sanguinary conflicts ensued with the natives, which had nearly destroyed the establishment in its infancy. But under the prudent management of Ashman, the agent for the society, these differences were reconciled, and amity and good will established between the natives and the strangers.

The settlement consists of two establishments. The first is Monroe, on Cape Mesarado, and the other Caldwell, seven miles up the river St. Paul. The whole population amounts to about three hundred families, comprising more than 1500 persons, who each have farms allotted to them, some in the lower and some in the upper settlement. A regular and most improved system of husbandry is insisted on. The males are formed into a regular

FLEA-OLOGICAL RESEARCHES.

Last night, pursuing my path in an idle, yet ob- ... ent mood, over Blackfriar's-bridge, and along ... Surry street, my attention was attracted by ... e show-box, stationed outside the pathway, ... inside like a magic lanthron, and adorned by ... modest transparency, on which was em- ... ed, in illuminated letters, the PRODIGIOUS ... ence, that within might be seen a brass ... drawn by two fleas!—a superb brazen ... three!—a French diligence, by five!—and ... of tortoises, supported by four!—and all for ... ll charge of one penny.'

... peeped through the magnifying glass, and ... minature lions executing their evolutions ... in the tropical climate of the show-box. ... were harnessed neatly round the neck by a ... golden wire, which was plaited in contin- ... to form traces for each fairy stud, thus leav- ... em in comparative liberty to pick their seve- ... ps, like Mr. Foot Hayne's carriage horses ... idea of which is professedly borrowed from ... uacho of the Pampas, but really stolen from ... rofessor in New Surry street.) The little ... k cattle pulled all together, very nicely, along ... eet of white paper, in the bottom of the box; ... cause,' as the professor explained to me, ... ey couldn't get any other way.' He had re- ... rs of all the performers and vehicles—complete ... doubles' of the dramatis personæ, like a Parisian ... manager; and there they lay in a corner on their ... back—cannon, diligence, triumphal car, and tor- ... toise—(or rather turtle, if I might judge from its ... flatness)—the tiny steeds still yoked by the necks, ... kicking up their heels in the air, and 'resting ... themselves," as the Professor assured me. Ac- ... cording as the duplicates in requisition on the stage, ... accomplished their grand march to the foot-light, ... or to my magnificent opera-glass, they were un- ... ceremoniously streeled back by the wand of their ... prompter, who thus gave them an opportunity of ... following their noses anew, which they invariably ... did, starting with a mettlesome skip, as if glad to ... be allowed to use their legs in any way, and heart- ... ily tired of 'resting themselves' by hanging in ... chains.

I found the Flea-ological Professor a very communicative savant in his way, and so (on Sir Walter Scott's hint) unceremoniously entered into conversation with him. I wanted to steal an opinion as to what would relieve the pain of a flea bite. ('Very annoying, so it is!" to thin-skinned people like me.) Alas! he could'nt tell me; but he gave me some interesting information concerning the 'natural history' of his menagerie, for which he seemed to entertain a parental affection.

'Lord bless you, sir!' cried he, 'the poor little hanimals never urts me. I never lets 'em be right down droughty, as it were, but I suckles 'em all twice a day regularly on my harm or on the back of my and; but if they were near hempty, you see they'd nip wickedly. I had my own trouble before I could bring 'em to this degree of perfection. Now brass wire, for one thing, would not do for traces—it gave 'em a verdygreasy disease in the neck and stomach, and spoilt their happetites. Silk was always dangling in their feet, or felting into their paper carpet, and it has a drag, a kind of spring in it that they hobject to. Nothing but silver and gold collars will sarve 'em. Then I must have rough paper for 'em to stick their toes in; I tried 'em on Perry's and on glazed, but they slipped as if they were on hice. Parchment's too cold for 'em, and it cockles with my lamp heat. At first I had tin cases of ot water under the paper, but that would cool in the frost, you see, and now I've got a lamp instead, burning night and day—a great improvement—it makes 'em as brisk as bees in the sun shine. And the white paper floor must be changed frequently, sir, or the wheels would'nt turn, with all the fuzz that the little cattle kick up."

'How long do your performers live in this line of life?' I asked.

'Why, sir, I have two pair yoked under the legs of that 'ere tortoise lying on its back, these two months past,' replied the Professor, 'and they carries his weight very well: he never touches the ground by no chance walking. They are his feet as 'twere, and they feed very well indeed. (They'll live as long as they feed: no longer, I 'sure you.) But I had one fellow worth one hundred times his weight in gold, that I suckled twenty eight months wanting a day, and that was the oldest flea I was ever acquainted with. He knew how to elp himself properly; but 'tis not every one that has its knack. The nicest point of my French yoke of five in the dilly, is, that the wire-plait-arness hallows hevery one to bite at once, and to take cleverly. I sold a pretty pair that skipped in gold chains, to a gemman who wanted to show 'em to his Majesty, but the gemman wasn't up to the feeding in chains, and so they died, I hear.'

'I suppose you have good magnifying glasses for your harnessing jobs,' said I.

'O Lord bless you, no sir!' replied he, 'I does it with the naked hye. T'other night one beast took sick or sulky, and I threw him into the mud, and yoked another to the cannon by the light of my lamp ere. I've capital sharp hyes. I made two holler needles to hunscrew—one eld a humbrella that would hopen! and the other eld a flea and a gold chain tied to it,—and done by the naked hye! But they were a bad street show! people could'nt see 'em! so I sold 'em.'

'Did you ever yoke any beetles?' I asked.—'They are very strong.' 'No sir, never!' replied the Professor. 'A beetle of course would draw hany think but the cureosity is in these 'ere small thinks. I tried dog's and cat's fleas, but they took sulk, and would'nt feed the very second time; so they'd die, you know, and, of course, would'nt do. I might keep a dog or cat to be sure, to nurse 'em, but that would be hexpensive; and I'd be too dependent: for if the dog was about a-fighting, or the cat gone a wisiting, the cattle might be starved. No, no! our own are the honly ones for draft, and they are always welcome to myself.'

Here's natural Philosophy thought I. Happy in exercising the tender cares of a pellican nurse to twenty-eight of my mortal foes, the backbiting family of Pulex Irritans!

All this time a select gaping crowd was gathering about the Professor, trying to save their pennies by listening to his lecture. He was just in the midst of an interesting and sorrowful story of the miscarriage of the tandem hanimal of the Dilly when I felt the soft hand of a street accoucheur in my pocket.

Ancient China Porcelain.—It is a very common opinion in China, that the porcelain ware made by their ancestors was superior in quality to any more recently manufactured. This belief is grounded on the fact, that pieces of porcelain are frequently dug from the earth, which are uniformly found to be of the very finest description. It has been remarked, that this fact is not by any means conclusive evidence on this subject; the buried pieces were most probably concealed during the period of civil commotion, on account of their value; and in order to preserve them for their owners, who were without an equal inducement to bury articles of more common use. An opinion likewise prevails, and is supported by reference to the same fact, that the quality of porcelain vessels is improved in beauty by a lengthened burying in the earth; and the same answer has been applied to this as to the first mentioned assertion.—Lardner's Cyclopædia, vol. xxvi.

More than a century since, some Hungarians visited the parish of Stourbridge, and finding the clay from which the celebrated fire-bricks are made, as well as an abundance of coal, they erected the first glass-house in that town, at a place now called in commemoration of the event, 'Hungary hill.' Their example was soon followed by the inhabitants, and thus Stourbridge became indebted to foreigners for the origin of its present importance and prosperity, and for the extensive commerce and manufacture produced by the industry of man from its subterranean treasures, which have contributed more to the real wealth and comfort of the human race than the most productive mines of Mexico and Peru.

Nothing attracts the notice of a stranger, when first walking the streets of Madrid, so much as the extraordinary number of shops, appropriated to the sale of combs. Throughout Spain, but especially in Madrid, the comb is an indispensable and important part of every woman's dress, and a never failing accompaniment of the montilla. A fashionable Spanish comb is not less than a foot long, and eight or nine inches broad; and no lady considers from 9 to 15 dollars (price £2 to £3) too much to give for this appendage; consequently, at least, every tenth shop is a comb shop.

Dr. Aldrich's excessive love of smoking was well known to his associates; but a young student of his college, finding some difficulty to bring a fellow collegian to the belief of it, laid him a wager that the Dean Aldrich was smoking at that time (about 10 o'clock in the morning.) Away went the latter to the deanery, when, being admitted to the dean in his study, he related the occasion of his visit. The Dean instead of being disconcerted, replied in perfect good humor, 'You see your friend has lost his wager, for I am not smoking, but only filling my pipe.'—Nicotiana.

Intelligence to the 12th July, has been received from the districts in the vicinity of the Red Sea. The country above there had suffered greatly from sickness, scurvy, fever, and cholera morbus. The latter was particularly dreaded, as the strongest and healthiest men were carried off in 12 hours. At Mecca, and in the Hadee country, 45,030 souls were carried off in one month. The violent rains had produced great damage in Arabia. Half of Suez had been washed away.—The locusts covered the water for miles and miles.—The cholera had broken out in his Majesty's 38th foot at Ghazapore, and, in twelve days, ten men, two women, and four children, had fallen victims.

The Wild Pine.—During the fervid, consuming heats of this season, the wood-cutters of Campeachy betook themselves to the forests in search of the wild pine, which afforded them a hearty and refreshing draught, This interesting plant is minutely described by Dampier, in that clear and succient manner which characterizes all his notices of natural productions. "The wild pine," he says, "is a plant so called because it somewhat resembles the bush that bears the pine; they are commonly supported or grow from some bunch, knot, or excresence of the tree, where they take root and grow upright.—The root is short and thick, from whence the leaves rise up in folds one within another, spreading off at top. They are of a good thick substance, and about ten or twelve inches long. The outside leaves are so compact as to contain the rain water as it falls. They will hold a pint and a half, or a quart; and this water refreshes the leaves and nourishes the root. When we find these pines we stick our knives into the leaves, just above the root, and that lets out the water, which we catch in our hats, as I have done many times to my great relief."—Edinburgh Cabinet Library, No. 5.

Painted Windows.—The great church at Gouda, in Holland, is splendidly embellished with painted windows, which, about the year 1555, were executed by various artists, the most celebrated among whom were Dirk and Walter Crabeth. The one among the windows which is the most highly esteemed, was painted by the first mentioned of these two brothers; and Mr. Hollis mentions, as evidence of the value placed upon this work of art, that, for the lower part of this window, about twenty feet square, Mr. Trevor, some time English resident at the Hague, and in vain offered to give a solid plate of gold of the same surface, and of the thickness of three Dutch guilders—Dr. Lardner's Cabinet Cyclopædia Vol. XXVI.

"When the British fleet was passing up the Potomac, with hostile intent, during the late war, the Commander directed that when he arrived opposite to Mount Vernon, he should be informed of the fact. When he was told that the ship was passing the tomb of Washington, the officers assembled upon deck and passed by uncovered and in silence."—[Extract from Mr. Howard's speech on the subject of the removal of Gen. Washington's remains.]

Money Market.—It is stated, that the pressure on the money market was greatly relieved last week by the liberal discounts of the United States Bank. It is believed that Institution discounted upwards of three hundred thousand dollars on Saturday, a hundred thousand more than they would otherwise have done, were it not for the pressure of the times. The conduct of the Branch here is spoken of in the highest terms of commendation. Exchange on England has declined to 9½ per cent. for private Bills. No specie of consequence has been shipped to Europe by any of the February packets.—Nat. Gaz.

New Cracker Machine.—A new machine for moulding crackers has been exhibited for a day or two past at the Exchange, which operates rapidly, and is said to save a large part of the labor now necessary. The dough is rolled into large sheets, and then cut into strips. One of the strips is placed in an inclining trough or hopper, at the lower end of which, the dough is received and passes through between two cylinders, which press it hard. On the further side of the nether cylinder it is met by a third cylinder, covered with moulds, which cut and perforate, and then deliver the crackers on a band below, which carries them away.—N. Y. Com.

Egyptian Mummy.—A mummy, from the catacombs of Alexandria, 3,000 years old, which has been exhibited for a few weeks in Scudder's American Museum, at New York, was to be opened by scientific men, on Wednesday, the 7th inst. —Baltimore American.

Curious mode of heating a Furnace.—It is said that in the great work at St. Gobain, two persons are employed, who, being disencumbered of all superfluous clothing, incessantly run round the furnace with a speed equal to seven leagues in six hours." These men on their circuit take up two small billets of wood, cut to a certain size, and heaped together; they deposit as they run, first one and then the other, in the openings of the furnace, which by such means is fed at regularly recurring intervals of time. Having continued this intellectual employment, without ceasing, for six hours, the men then surrender their "seven league boots" to others, whose heels and hands are similarly employed during an equal period of time; after which they are in turn relieved by the first set of couriers.—Dr. Lardner's, Cabinet Cyclopædia.

Death by Hydrophobia.—On the evening of the 19th of November last, William Hedges, aged about 19 years, son of Joseph Hedges, of Madison township, in this county, was bitten by a rabid dog, which eventuated in his death. On the evening of that day, a little after dark, something unusual was heard among the hogs in the yard; the deceased, in examining into the cause, discovered among them a strange dog, which, trying to drive away, seized by the coat about the shoulder, and in descending, bit him on the right hand. At the time of this occurrence, the dog was not known to be rabid, and the wound soon after healing, no fears were entertained either by the deceased or his family, although they were afterwards apprised of the fact. No symptoms of hydrophobia were felt or discovered until Sunday last, (nearly three months,) when deceased expressed apprehensions for the first time, that he harbored within him the seeds of that incurable disease. His apprehensions were in a short time verified; from that time he refused both food and liquids, and was soon attacked with violent spasms, which continued with but little intermission until Tuesday, the 21st instant, when he expired.—*Ohio (Lan.) A PAPER MILL FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers his Paper Mill for sale, situated twelve miles above Louisville, Kentucky, and three miles from the Ohio river, on Harrod's Creek. This Mill is nearly new and in excellent running order, and in the most healthy part of the State. It has only one Vat and one Rag Engine in operation; but the stream is sufficient to run three engines—and as Louisville is well known to be the best market in the west, for the purchase of rags and the sale of paper, and there being no other mill within less than fifty miles, here is offered a good opportunity for any man to make a fortune. For being determined to leave the State, I will sell a great bargain and give a good title. One half of the purchase money will be required in hand, and a credit of four or five years will be given for the balance, or I will lease the whole for ten years. R. BROWN.

60 tons of Granite;
9 tons of Iron;
3 tons of Bark;
1 ton of Tallow;

MARTIN VAN BUREN.—Hereafter, the Jackson party in Pennsylvania should never venture to censure the rejection of this patriot's appointment. The recent Jackson convention has placed the seal of approbation upon that act of the senate. Out of 133 delegates, from all the counties in the state, the magician and his friends could conjure up but four votes, George Kremer being one of them, and the only one who adhered to him to the last.

THE IMPRISONED MISSIONARIES.—The case of these men, who are now confined in the penitentiary of Georgia, suffering the punishment due to horse-thieves, burglars, and pick-pockets, has at length been discussed and examined, before a highly intelligent, and impartial tribunal. The Supreme Court of the United States, which sits in its own hall, at Washington, which has no power to move about the country, seeking for business—which can not raise a finger to do any act itself, or to prevent any other department of the Government, or any individual from doing any act, however unjust or atrocious, unless its interference is asked, in a legal manner—has deliberated and decided upon the case of these unfortunate men. It has pronounced the conduct of Georgia to be as illegal and unconstitutional, as it is cruel and oppressive. That it is illegal and unconstitutional is, it seems, the unanimous opinion of the able and intelligent men who compose that Court, for it is stated that Mr. Baldwin dissented, not on account of the merits of the case, but of some alleged informality in the record.

In another part of our paper will be seen a summary of the opinion of the Court, as delivered by Chief Justice Marshall. It is an extraordinary feature in this case, that this distinguished man should find it necessary to go into an elaborate argument to prove that the aborigines of the soil "were capable of holding and ceding their territories." Surely, in the eye of strict justice; in the estimation of the Almighty judge of all men, this is scarcely a disputable question. Might, however, is more imposing than right, and this alone rendered it necessary to prove what every honest and virtuous man feels to be true. One hundred years ago, the first white settlers of Georgia appeared on the Savannah river, and asked the natives to grant them a little land. One hundred years have gone by, and now it is necessary to enter into a grave argument to prove that the Indians have the power of holding and ceding any portion of these lands. Truly, the times are changed.

The decision of the Court brings before our whole country a most interesting and grave question. The highest judicial tribunal of our country has declared, with a unanimous voice, that the laws of Georgia, under which the Missionaries are imprisoned, are violations of the Constitution, of the laws, and the treaties of the United States, and that the Missionaries are entitled to the protection of this Constitution and these laws. Shall the provisions of this constitution, and these laws, be enforced? Shall the Missionaries, who are imprisoned in violation of the laws, the treaties, and the Constitution, be protected and released from imprisonment, or shall Georgia, in defiance of the dictates of religion, of justice, and humanity, still confine these injured men in the cells with horse-thieves and burglars? If wisdom and patriotism prevailed in the councils of Georgia, we might hope much from her forbearance, but we greatly fear that grasping, inordinate avarice, has in that quarter, expelled all nobler feelings.

The President of the United States is sworn to see the provisions of the Constitution and laws of the United States carried into effect. Will he do so in this case? We are free to say that we think he will not. We fear that one state will, in this case, be permitted to set at defiance the laws of the Union.—Some friends of the President may say that this is right; that Georgia is a sovereign state, and has the right and power to expound the laws and constitution of the United States; to declare a law unconstitutional, and then resist its execution. This is nullification; this is the very doctrine of John C. Calhoun. Some persons may think that the imprisonment of the Missionaries is a small matter, and the continuance of this imprisonment, in defiance of the decision of the Supreme Court, is unimportant. Such persons should, however, reflect that, if Georgia is permitted to carry into effect this doctrine of nullification in one case, another state will have a precedent for pursuing the same course, in another case. If Georgia may nullify the law regulating intercourse with the Cherokees, South Carolina will, with greater reason, claim a right to nullify the law regulating our intercourse with foreign nations; that is, the tariff. South Carolina will probably sustain Georgia in her cause; in doing so, she, in fact, makes that state fight her battle of nullification.—Will the other states of the Union, especially those which prosper under the tariff, wink at this mode of repealing that law, which has so greatly contributed to their prosperity and independence? The question now at issue is not merely whether the Cherokees shall be permitted to remain in peace in the homes of their ancestors, or be driven into the wilderness; it is not merely whether the imprisoned missionaries shall be released from a cruel and unjust confinement, or whether they shall be compelled to finish their term of servitude, as though they were convicted felons. No, the question is one of a graver cast. The question is simply this, Has each state in the Union the right to judge of the constitutionality of a law of Congress, and to nullify all those whose provisions it does not like? It is, in fact, the practical application of Mr. Calhoun's theory of nullification.

If Georgia succeeds in her scheme, the task of the South Carolina Nullifying and Anti-Tariff Convention will be made easy. The question will be settled, and no state will be bound to submit to any act which is disagreeable to her.—Georgia is now the pioneer in the great work of nullification.

THE REAL JACKSON CONVENTION.—The Delegates to this Convention, to the number of 133, assembled on the 5th instant. The Convention was organized, by appointing Frederick Smith, of Franklin county, President; William M'Creery, of Washington, Christian Garber, of Huntingdon, Alexander Cook, of Philadelphia, and Joseph B. Anthony, of Lycoming, Vice Presidents; Joseph Y. Barclay, of Westmoreland, and Henry Frick, Secretaries.

Andrew Jackson was unanimously nominated for President.

The Convention then proceeded to ballot for the candidate for the Vice Presidency, when, on the tenth balloting, William Wilkins received a majority.

The vote, on the last ballot, was as follows:

Wm. Wilkins,	67;
George M. Dallas,	63;
Martin Van Buren,	1; George Kremer.

George Wolf was unanimously nominated for Governor. The Convention refused, by a majority of 88 to 44, to send delegates to Baltimore. A resolution was passed, instructing the electors to vote for George M. Dallas, in case William Wilkins should die or decline.

To the Editor of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

THE FLOOD.

SIR, MARIETTA, O. Feb. 24, 1832.

We have undergone a serious Neptunian visitation; have suffered much inconvenience, and some loss; but we regret to find our situation and losses very much exaggerated and misrepresented.

It has been repeatedly said, and printed, that "Marietta was totally inundated;" "the water was up to the eaves of the houses in Marietta;" that a large number of dwellings had floated away; and to crown all, that "Marietta, at the mouth of the Scioto, was reported to be literally covered with water—scarcely ground enough left for the dove to rest upon!"

The late rise was about five feet higher than any preceding one at Marietta, since its settlement. It was on the second floor of a part of the buildings on the two points. A number of barns and small shops floated away. One dwelling house was carried away from Point Harmar. Some goods were damaged for want of timely removal. No lives were lost.

As to total inundation, there are two hundred acres of pleasant, level, building ground within our town plot, situate from fifteen to thirty feet above even the last rise.

I am pleased with your suggestion, in reference to recording and publishing the times when the water gained its height at the several towns along the river. It is to be hoped, there will be found persons who will attend to this, not only in relation to the late rise, but all future inundations. It might be of signal utility, at such times, to learn, accurately, by the steam boats, the relative state of the river at different points, during both the flow and the ebb. The late rise was at its height, in Marietta, about eight o'clock, on the morning of Monday, Feb. 13; and it fell at the rate of only about one inch an hour, for nearly three days. The Muskingum, above the backing of the Ohio, was not so high as heretofore, by several feet.

Respectfully,
A CITIZEN OF MARIETTA.

From the Baltimore American.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT DECISION.

The National Intelligencer of yesterday contains the following statement of the decision made by the Supreme Court of the United States, on Saturday last, in the case in which the State of Georgia and the Cherokee Indians within its limits are parties.

WASHINGTON, March 5.

THE CHEROKEE CASE.

In the Supreme Court of the United States.

Samuel A. Worcester, vs. The State of Georgia. } On Saturday last, Mr. Chief Justice MARSHALL delivered the opinion of the Court in this case, reversing the judgment of the Superior Court of Gwinnett county in Georgia. The effect of this decision is, that the recent acts of Georgia, taking possession of the Cherokee country, and providing for the punishment of persons therein residing without the license of the Governor, and without taking an oath of allegiance to the state, are declared null and void, as contrary to the constitution, treaties, and laws of the United States.

The opinion of the Chief Justice was very elaborate and clear. He took a review of the origin of the European title to lands in America, upon the ground of discovery. He established that this right was merely conventional among the European Governments themselves, and for their own guidance, and the regulation of their own claims, in regard to each other, and in no respects changed or affected to change the rights of the Indians as occupants of the soil: That the only effect of the European title was, as between European nations, to recognise an exclusive right of trade and intercourse with the Indians, and, of ultimate domain in the territories occupied by the Indians in favor of the nation or government whose subjects were the first discoverers: That all the European governments, Spain, France, and especially Great Britain, had uniformly recognised the Indian tribes and nations as distinct communities, capable of, and entitled to, self-government, as States, and in no respect, except as their right of intercourse with other European nations, and the right of pre-emption in the discoverers to purchase their soil, as under the control or power of the Europeans. They were treated as nations capable of holding & ceding their territories, capable of making treaties and compacts, and entitled to all the powers of peace and war, and not as conquered or enslaved communities. He demonstrated this from various historical facts; and showed that when upon the Revolution the United Colonies succeeded to the rights and claims of the mother country, the American Congress uniformly adopted and adhered to the same doctrine, both before and after the confederation; that since the adoption of the Constitution the same doctrine had as uniformly prevailed in all the departments of the Government; and that the treaties with the Indians were held to be treaties, and obligatory in the same sense as treaties between European sovereigns. He showed also that this had been the established course of things recognised by Georgia herself, from the adoption of the Constitution down to the year 1829, as evidenced by her solemn acts, compacts, and laws. He then showed that by the Constitution the exclusive power belonged to the United States to regulate intercourse with the Indians, and to receive cessions of their lands; and to make treaties with them. That their independence of the State Governments had been constantly upheld: that the right of possession to their land was solemnly guarantied by the U. States and by treaties with them, until that title should, with their own consent, be extinguished, and that the laws passed by Congress had regulated the trade and intercourse with them accordingly. He now reviewed the laws of Georgia in question, and pronounced them to be repugnant to the Constitution, treaties, and laws, of the United States. And he concluded by maintaining that the party defendant in the present indictment was entitled to the protection of the Constitution, treaties, and laws of the United States; and that Georgia had no authority to extend her laws over the Cherokee country, or to punish the defendant for disobedience to those laws in the Cherokee country.

Mr. Justice McLean delivered a separate opinion, concurring in all things, in the opinion of the Court. Mr. Justice Baldwin dissented.

A woman, supposed to be insane, threw herself from a chamber window in the Exchange, a day or two since, and was so much injured, that the amputation of a limb became immediately necessary. She is a stranger, poor and helpless, and was sent to the poor house to be provided for at public expense.—Statesman.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

LATEST FROM LONDON.

The packet ship Dover, Captain Nye, has arrived at Boston, from Liverpool, with advices to the 21st, being four days later from Liverpool. We are indebted to the editors of the Boston Commercial Gazette and Daily Advertiser and Patriot, for slips containing a few brief items of news.

The Liverpool Journal says there can be no doubt that an ample creation of peers had been decided upon, to carry the bill.

The apprehension of a quarrel about the settlement of Belgium had vanished. The latest paper says:—"It is now pretty certain that the business will be ratified before the 30th, Prussia has already sent in her adherence; and though the Dutch King talks about the refusal of the Autocrat, there is all but certainty of his assent."

A London paper says, considerable consternation has been excited at the Pavillion, by the refusal of her Majesty to receive the wife of one of her illustrious consort's brothers.

The Bangor Savings Bank had failed, to the very serious loss of the industrious poor of that neighborhood.

Great Fire at Glasgow.—One of the most destructive fires that ever occurred at Glasgow, took place on the 14th of January, in Queen's street, where a Court of three sides, (Queen's Court,) of great extent, occupied chiefly as warehouses, was burnt to the ground. The property destroyed, most of which was insured, was valued at one hundred and fifty thousand pounds sterling. Two lives were lost. Some idea may be formed of the intensity of the fire, when it is stated that the iron safes formed no protection to the books locked up in them.

The Cholera was gradually spreading; and fever was prevailing to an alarming extent at Glasgow, and numerous deaths were occurring in consequence.

The whole number of cases of cholera that had occurred in England, since the commencement of the disease, down to the 18th Jan. was 2030; deaths 296.

There had been an alarm in London, occasioned by the rumor of the appearance of the Cholera in Westminster, and that a private in the Military Hospital had been attacked with it. The symptoms of the case were reported to the Central Board of Health, who announced that there was no reason to believe that the case was one of Asiatic Cholera.

Abstract of Congressional Proceedings.

Friday, March 2.—In the Senate, a message was received from the President of the United States, transmitting a report from the Secretary of the Treasury on the subject of the British colonial trade. Several petitions were presented and bills reported, among the latter of which was one by Mr. Smith, from the Committee on Finance, providing for refunding, in all cases, the duties on iron imported for the use of rail roads.—The bill to adjust and pay the claims of Virginia, for certain revolutionary services, and the South Carolina claims bill, were read a third time and passed. The Senate, afterwards, passed into the consideration of Executive business.

In the House of Representatives, a variety of private bills were reported. Mr. Root submitted a series of amendments to the Constitution of the United States, providing that the vote of the several States, for election of President and Vice President, shall be given in the manner by which the most numerous branch of the State Legislature is elected, and, that the candidate having the highest number of votes, shall be entitled to the whole electoral vote of the State, thus abolishing the electoral districts, and substituting in lieu thereof the system of voting by general ticket. It further provides that, in the event of an equality of electoral votes between the two highest candidates, the President should be chosen by the two Houses of Congress, in joint ballot, and the Vice President by the Senate; and, also, that the former shall be ineligible for re-election. The consideration of Mr. Clayton's resolution, on the subject of the bank, was resumed, and that gentleman addressed the House, in support of his proposition, until the expiration of the hour. Mr. Wickliffe, upon the consideration of a bill from the Senate, respecting an appropriation in aid of the rebuilding of the bridge over the Potomac, moved that it be committed to the Committee on the District of Columbia, with instructions to inquire into the expediency of erecting a bridge, toll free, which was ordered. The remainder of the day was occupied by the discussion of the bill for the compensation of Mrs. Decatur and others.

March 3.—The Senate did not sit.

In the House of Representatives, Mr. M'Carty presented several memorials from the Legislature of Indiana, on the subject of internal improvement and public education, together with petitions from citizens of Franklin county in that State, in favor of the renewal of the bank charter, and from citizens of Montgomery county, Ohio, against any change in the location of the Cumberland Road. Mr. Wickliffe proposed an amendment to the Revolutionary Pensions Bill, and extending its provisions to the militia and volunteers who fought in the Indian war, on the western frontier, until 1794, which was ordered to be printed. The resolution of Mr. Clayton, of Georgia, for the appointment of a select committee on the affairs of the bank was, on his motion, postponed till the 5th. At an early hour of the sitting, the House went into a Committee of the Whole, Mr. Speight in the chair, and took up the bill to compensate Mrs. Decatur and others. The question was, upon the amendment of Mr. Davis, of Massachusetts, to grant 10,000 dollars to Mrs. Decatur, 5,000 dollars to the heirs of Commodore Preble, and the residue of the $100,000 proposed to be appropriated to the other officers and crew of the ketch Intrepid.—Messrs. M'Duffie, Davis, of Massachusetts, Tracy, Anderson, Everett, of Massachusetts, and Cooke, of Ohio, successively addressed the committee on the subject. The latter gentleman moved a further amendment to grant 20,000 to Mrs. Decatur, and 9,000 dollars to the nieces of Commodore Decatur, but, before the question was taken, the committee rose and reported, and, at half past 4 o'clock, the House adjourned.

Monday, March 5.—In the Senate, Mr. Benton, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported a bill to organize the Corps of Topographical Engineers, which was read and ordered to a second reading. Mr. Smith laid a resolution on the table directing the committee on the District of Columbia, to inquire into the expediency of prohibiting by law the issuing of bank or other notes of less than five dollars, in said District. On motion of Mr. Webster, the Apportionment Bill was taken up, the amendment submitted by that gentleman being under consideration. A debate ensued, in which Messrs. Webster, Marcy, Clayton, Foot, and Bibb, took part. Mr. Clayton opposed the bill as unjust and unequal in its operations, and contrary to the spirit of the constitution. He assumed that the practice, hitherto, of fixing the number of representatives by an arbitrary ratio, had been founded on erroneous principles, and had operated unjustly towards the smaller states; and that the only fair mode of apportionment would be; to assume any given number of members for the House of Representatives to consist of, and then to calculate by the rule of three the number of representatives of each State, in proportion to its population, compared with that of the whole Union, thus: 'as the whole population of the Union is to the number assumed for the House of Representatives, (say 240,) so is the population of each State to her share of the members of that House.' On this principle, the fractions would not be unjustly affected in any State, and he cared not whether they were taken into consideration or not. After authorising the printing of certain calculations, the Senate adjourned.

In the House of Representatives there arose a discussion of fresh, deep, and universal interest. It took place upon the disposition to be given to a Memorial, presented by Mr. Adams, of Massachusetts, from a vast number of citizens of the United States, residents of the City of New York, remonstrating against the violation of Treaties between the United States and the Cherokee Nation of Indians, by the laws and judicial proceedings of the state of Georgia, and against the non-execution of the laws of the United States by the Executive of the Union, and praying the Legislative action of Congress in relation thereto. Taken in connection with the highly important decision of the Supreme Court on Saturday last, in reference to the same subject, this memorial excited a sensation which may be as readily imagined as described.

The debate began almost as soon as the House met, and continued until a late hour in the day, when it was only checked by a successful motion for the Previous Question. The Memorial was proposed by Mr. Adams to be referred to a select committee. In the course of the debate a motion was made to refer it to a Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, which took precedence of the motion of Mr. Adams. That question again was divided, and the question taken on the commitment simply of the Memorial, which was decided in the affirmative, at the close of the debate, by 96 votes to 93. The Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union was the committee to which it was finally sent.

Cross-Cut Canal.—We learn from Mr. Sloane, who has recently returned from the east, that, in consequence of the fluctuating state of the money market, it was deemed, by the Commissioners, inexpedient to open Books for the subscription of Stock, at present. That from the interest manifested in favor of the project, by capitalists in Philadelphia, he is induced to believe that the stock will be taken during the ensuing summer, and that arrangements have been made, by the Commissioners, for opening Books in Philadelphia, whenever the state of the money market shall become more settled.—Ravenna Courier.

Letters have been received in town, mentioning the marriage, at Paris, of the notorious Miss Wright to a foreigner, neither young nor handsome, but rather having something of an ogre in his appearance—in other words, what ladies would call 'a fright.' It is added that the aid of Lucina was successfully invoked by the happy couple before they had recourse to Hymen. The least said about such matters the better in general cases; but there is something in the particular instance before us 'to point a moral,' if not 'to adorn a tale.' The subject of the scandal, though long since thrown off and disowned by the kind friends whose feelings her manifold improprieties outraged, was at one time a woman whose talents, intelligence, and modesty of deportment, richly entitled her to all the courtesies which were extended her. She lost her respectability not by being carried away by the 'vanities of the world,' the intoxications of life acting upon a weak mind, but by an attempt, not less remarkable for its impudence than its absurdity, to break through the usages of society with impunity, and set its established rules at defiance. Her naturally strong but perverted mind had taken up some ridiculous idea concerning the position which women ought to maintain in the world, and the propriety of her sex asserting their right to participate in the dignities, and share what she considered the immunities of the other. In advancing this position, with a great deal of ability, her ill-regulated passions were brought into play, and probably unknown to herself first influenced her in entering upon the course she adopted. Their gratification has now brought her so low, that her present condition, contrasted with the former estimation in which she was held, reads a striking lesson to her sex to confine their ambition within their own peculiar sphere of power; and to the followers of her tenets generally does this termination of her course teach the absurdity of embracing doctrines whose tendency their original promulgator has so forcibly illustrated. We should not be surprised if this deluded woman, who so modestly set up her own perceptions of 'truth' (this was her favorite phrase) against what the accumulated mass of mankind have in gathered centuries regarded as such, should die in one of the most ancient faiths she can adopt, and close her eyes perhaps in a nunnery.—N. Y. American.

Extract of a letter from Washington, dated March 1.

We have had a day's more debating on the Bank resolution, which is at length approaching a termination. Mr. Mitchell, of S. Carolina, commenced the discussion in a long speech against Banking generally, and the U. S. Bank in particular. He will have acquired, certainly, no enviable notoriety by his attack on that large and respectable portion of our community, the naturalized citizens of the United States, whom he represented virtually as unworthy of the equal privileges which our liberal institutions extend to them, by contending against the propriety of allowing them to vote, when Stockholders, for the appointment of Directors of the Bank in which the fruits of their economy and industry may be invested. Mr. Denny, of your state, very happily replied to him. A number of other gentlemen followed, among whom was Mr. Watmough, who proposed an amendment to Mr. Clayton's resolution to the effect of referring the subject to the Committee of Ways and Means, with instructions to enquire of the Directors of the Bank in relation to the specific charges embodied in Mr. Clayton's remarks. At the instance of Mr. M'Duffie, however, he withdrew it; and Mr. M'D. expressed his acquiescence in the expediency of the proposed enquiry, under certain modifications, with a view of putting down any popular clamor which might be excited by misrepresentation or misapprehension. Mr. Clayton will speak on the question to-morrow, (Friday,) when it is supposed the matter will be disposed of by the appointment of a Select Committee.—Nat. Gaz.

Western Agency.

MERCHANTS and others, living at a distance, have so often, of late years, forwarded to us (at Terrehaute, Indiana,) notes and accounts for collection, that we find it necessary either to decline attending to them altogether, or to establish an "agency" for that purpose. We have determined on the latter course, and will hereafter receive and attend to all business of this kind, as agents.

Where a legal course, or legal advice is necessary, it shall be employed, and for this purpose, we design opening correspondence with lawyers of standing throughout the Western states.

We have been, for twelve years past, and still are Merchants. Our charge shall never exceed those of respectable lawyers, and our attention; be at least as prompt as it has been when no reward was pending. W. C. & D. LINTON

Edgeworth Ladies' Boarding School,

BRADDOCKSFIED, NEAR PITTSBURGH,

Will recommence its engagements on the first Monday of October next.

THE increased and increasing approbation given to this institution cannot fail to produce a corresponding zeal and energy, and a desire to secure a settled good opinion. At this time very many additions have been made, for the convenience, comfort, and well doing of the pupils.—In so large a field as is open for education, understood in its true and extensive sense, there must be room for continual culture. Unabated will be the effort to do the utmost possible to meet so responsible a charge as the care of youth, and to this effort will be added the aid experience brings.—With little observation, in every succeeding month, somewhat is seen to revise and improve.

Edgeworth Seminary has been now of several years standing, and, disclaiming all egotism, it is only the fact to say that experience enables it to offer rather an increase than a diminution of means to give satisfaction.

The health enjoyed by the inmates, and beauty of situation of Braddocksfield Mansion, are well known to visiters, but for information of strangers, it is necessary to state, that in both particulars terms too flattering cannot easily be used.

To instruct, coercive means are not employed—reference is made to the heart as well as the head. Pains are taken to inculcate, that to be great, it is an indispensable to be virtuous; and as the worth of knowledge is only to be estimated by its tendency to right action, the study of every branch, and the proportion of time given to it, will be made subservient and tributary to useful moral and religious improvement.

Sabbath day engagements must not be interrupted unnecessarily. Pupils living at a distance, or from any cause, disposed to make Braddocksfield, during the vacation, their home, are invited to do so, and no additional charge is made.

TERMS.

ADAMS M'FADDEN,

Having taken the extensive warehouse, formerly occupied by the Pittsburgh Manufacturing Association, No. 26 Wood street, and next door below the Drug store of Messrs. Charles Avery & Co., is now opening the most splendid assortment of Goods in the above line that has ever been seen in this city, and to which the attention of Ladies and Gentlemen is most respectfully invited.

In addition to the above, while in Philadelphia, he engaged the services of an experienced Upholsterer, who will shortly be forthcoming, and ready to attend every call in his line, and perform his work in eastern city style.

As arrangements have been made with several of the most extensive importing houses to the eastward, a regular, general, and superb assortment of every article in the above line will be constantly kept up, and offered at fair prices, for cash, acceptances, or the usual credit. And as the above named intends to devote his whole personal attention to the concerns of this establishment, he will be thankful for the influence and patronage of his many friends. 30 DOLLARS REWARD.—Ran away from the subscribers, on Sunday the 16th ultimo, DANIEL M'CARTNEY, an indented apprentice to the Coppersmith Business. He is 19 years of age, about 5 feet 9 or 10 inches high, dark hair, blue eyes, and rather fair complexion. He took with him a blue tight-bodied coat, partly worn, with gilt buttons; one pair new black mixed cassinet pantaloons, and one pair of black worsted or bombazine ditto; one light blue cassinet waistcoat; one striped swansdown ditto, and a new pair of pegged bootees, together with other clothes not recollected. He has a brother living in Mobile, (engineer on the steam boat Isabella,) and has often said he would like to go there. He has been much in the habit of reading plays, and frequently associated with play actors: in all probability his object is to join with some traveling players.

The above reward will be given to any person who will apprehend and secure the said apprentice so that the subscribers may get him again. The public are cautioned against harboring him, under the penalty of the law.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S

☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM. ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn. It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately: inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed annecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.

TO THE PUBLIC.

WE wish to caution our friends against an imposition too successfully practised on them, with spurious Nails stamped "JUNIATA."—This caution is deemed necessary from the fact that Nails have been manufactured from inferior Iron, and receive this brand.

An attempt of this kind is calculated to bring into disrepute the JUNIATA IRON, which has been long known to our western friends as an article of the very best quality. We would advise, therefore, in order to defeat this imposition, that the purchaser be governed in his selection by the names of the manufacturers, which will be found marked on the end of each keg of nails, and stamped on each bar of iron.

The undersigned manufacture their Iron from the Ore, and will stand accountable for the quality of the Iron and Nails marked with their stamp.
